

Nebraska State Capitol

The Nebraska State Capitol was designed by New York architect Bertram Grosvenor Goodue and constructed in four phases between 1922 and 1932 at a cost of $10 million. The artwork and symbolism in the Capitol represent Nebraska's Native American and pioneer spirit and history. The Capitol stands 400 feet tall and is a monument to inspire future generations to build a noble life on the prairie.